"The Journey"

Despite the many hiccups that keep happening along the way, we've been on our way to the Beloved Community for some time now. In fact, we occasionally build bubbles of that justice-making space through our collective organizing as well as our policies and how we distribute our money and other resources. Gather with us for a service of practicing building the Beloved Community along each phase of the journey to get there.

Update from the Interim Search Committee:

In these weird pandemic times, it often seems like things either a) aren't happening at all, or b) appear as if by magic. The Interim Search Committee is working diligently to find the best possible Interim Minister match for our congregation, and we hope to recommend a candidate to the Board by the end of May for an August 1st start date.

This is a very exciting transitional time, and this is just the first step along our journey to a new Settled Ministry.

USH Green Solar Power Helps Lower Global Warming

At its last Board Meeting, April 12, 2021 the USH Board voted to purchase the solar equipment producing electricity at the rear of the Meeting House.

This was the culmination of an effort begun in 2015 to use solar panels to meet the electrical needs of the Meeting House thus contributing to a reduction in global warming of our planet through production of clean power while reducing the cost of electricity used by the Meeting House for years to come.

The dedicated and talented group undertaking this project included Stuart Spence, Jean and Richard Groothuis, Virginia de Lima, Jim Venneman, Jeff Howard and Janice and David Newton. Realizing the 30 percent Federal Incentive for such a project was available as an income tax deduction, they immediately realized USH, with no such tax payment, could not receive this incentive to solarize.

After exploring various alternatives, they determined to use what has come to be termed the Sole Proprietor model. USH would raise funds for the construction through the Endowment, these funds were loaned to a Sole Proprietor, who turned out to be David Newton, who, in turn, contracted for the construction of the system while paying USH for a lease for the land under the panels and interest on the loaned funds. Through this complex arrangement (this is a simplified version) USH ultimately received the 30 percent incentive for the equipment, the ZREC (Zero emissions Renewable Energy Credits) incentive from the State of Connecticut, and significant immediate reduction in electrical costs.

None of this would have happened had not many of you reading this article contributed to the Endowment Fund earmarked for the construction of the solar installation. Thank you!

USH and Sole Proprietor governed by a series of legal agreements essentially managed to build a system for about $150,000 which CTEC Solar appraised as worth $82,325 five years later. Meanwhile, the 30% incentive was captured and used to reduce the outstanding loan to USH after the first year, leaving an outstanding loan of $73,422 to be paid off on or about June 30 this year. During the past five years, Eversource has paid about $3,500 in ZREC payments to USH reducing total electrical costs. These payments will continue for another 10 years.

In the new fiscal year 21-22, as official owner of the equipment, USH will essentially have its electrical costs reduced to a fee for connection to the grid, and the cost of one streetlight found on the corner of our north driveway. If our electrical consumption remains about the same as the past, it will be entirely covered by the solar energy converted by the panels to electricity for our use.

Shine on. – David Newton

A soft, slow opening

Though it hasn't felt that way, our Meeting House has in fact been open — to a very limited extent — since November 2020. Understandably, during a winter fraught with pandemic spikes as well as major drama on the national political scene, most of our attention has been directed elsewhere.

Vaccination rates are growing — more than half eligible adults (16+) in Connecticut have received their first shot, and close to one million are fully vaccinated. The state has lifted capacity restrictions for most establishments, provided masking and distancing practices are heeded. Last week USH's board voted to remove the 15-person limit we'd earlier set for groups meeting within our building or on the grounds.

Practically speaking, what does this mean? If you are participating in some small-group activity, your group can again meet here, without concern for group size. Rental activities can resume. There may be some experimentation with components of worship, though many variables are involved here and, thus, no guarantees.

What is not intended is large groups mingling without regard for safe practices, or casual drop-ins simply to "hang out". Purpose and planning are critical.

These protocols, many of which come directly from CDC and State of Connecticut specifications, are in effect until that time when they're not:

Masks are to be worn in the presence of others. Masks have been shown to be an effective way of preventing airborne spread of virus, and therefore an important safety measure.

Distancing — continue maintaining 6 feet between you and the person next to/across from you. This may require changing room arrangements if your group adds participants.

Coordinating/scheduling — all meetings or events must be arranged through “official channels” ... Buffie (internal groups) or Rayla (rentals) and noted on the calendar. We simply need to exert a higher degree of mindfulness, for our own safety and the safety of others.

As has previously been our position, individual and small family group visits to the memorial gardens can take place at any time.

This all may seem as if there’s not much progress. If, however, a few groups begin to venture in for their meetings... while arranging for virtual inclusion of those not yet willing or able to visit physically... we will again start visioning ourselves as a community within. Perhaps, over summer while nice weather prevails, a few more gatherings can take place in the memorial Garden or the parking lot. Then, come Ingathering in September, we may be ready for an experience which feels somewhat foreign — it will have been 18 months, after all — but for many of us, so welcome!

For now, we can proceed cautiously, slowly, as we feel comfortable... to open the door, peer into the stillness, and then, perhaps, enter.

~A big thank-you to the members of the AdHoc Covid Advisory Task Force: Greg Nickett (co-chair), Laurie Kelleher, Rayla Mattson, Stu Spence, and previously, Lisa Galinski.

News in the Larger CommunityNews from The Village for Families and Children

The pandemic has turned our world upside down. Our next-door neighbor, The Village for Families and Children, has continued to support families in Greater Hartford. In addition to its comprehensive behavioral health services some programs developed by The Village in response to COVID-19 include:

* Telehealth Platforms for individuals and group counseling, family and parenting support, treatment for addiction and recovery and financial and career coaching

- * "Ask a Doc" – non-emergency conversations with a Village staff psychologist
- * COVID-19 on-line resource center with print and video information
- * School-based staff for students at 5 Hartford schools to support food and technology distribution and distance learning
- * Virtual Home Visits
- * Short-term emergency basic needs assistance
- * The Village and CEO Galo Rodriguez have been passionate advocates for vaccinations in Hartford's underserved communities

The motto of the Village is "Where Real Change Happens" - that goal has certainly been realized during the past year.

Unitarian Universalists everywhere: it's that time again!

Mark your calendars for the annual national denominational conference of Unitarian Universalists, June 23-27, 2021. It will again be all-online this year which means that everyone will be online together. Participating online makes it more affordable and accessible for everyone. Please consider whether this is the year you can join in!

"General Assembly is the annual gathering of Unitarian Universalists, where we conduct business of the Association, explore the theological underpinnings of our faith, and lean fully into our mission and principles. That remains true even when we cannot gather physically. Last year, GA had more than 4,900 registered attendees participate from remote locations around the world. Although we give up the face-to-face interaction and hugs that are prevalent when we meet in-person, we retain our dedication to community and make our experience more accessible and more environmentally sustainable."
