Liberal Religious Educators Annual Gathering

My time in Baltimore attending the Liberal Religious Educators annual gathering was so fruitful and I am full. It wasn't without its challenges and heartbreak but after nearly 8 years in this position, it was my first time being able to attend and I am grateful.

I arrived at the conference a day early to attend a gathering for religious professionals of color. For me, it was a very meaningful way to enter into my time with my peers. The following day, as we gathered for opening worship, I kicked off the event by giving the morning's reflection, setting the tone for the days to follow.

Leaving the conference was bittersweet. I enjoyed time with my peers and colleagues and was excited to bring back to USH what I had learned. However, upon returning the hard truth of being a part-time DRE and also not being in a lifespan roll, hit hard. So, I took time to reflect on how I could still make my time away meaningful for USH.

Rev. Sofia Betancourt led us through a spiritual practice one day and talked about how we have religious learning for adults and children but we do not always engage in spiritual work for our families as a whole. During the talk, I had a great discussion at the table where I was sitting and have brought back a tool to help us engage more in spirituality as families.

The picture in the photo is what will we call our USH Traveling Chalice. The goal is to help stimulate ideas for families to engage in their own spiritual practices at home. My children and I blessed the chalice and began the process. I am asking families to take the chalice for a week or two to their home; decide how many days during that time you will engage as a family in developing your own spiritual practice. There is a book of reflections to help you get started and reminders of our UU Principles. I am hoping this will lead to deeper conversations within our community on how we can more fully live into our principles on a daily basis.

There will also be starter questions and ideas. At the end of your time with the box, I am hoping you will add a note of reflection or a picture to the journal. Sage and I added notes and Bradshaw and Kennedy drew pictures. You can add a family picture or memento; you can add some design or color to the box or place a note or keepsake in the box. It is whatever we make of it.

After your time, I hope your family will embark on regular spiritual practice. If you like the ideas from the chalice kit, I am happy to help you put together your own kit. You may find that taking a walk as a family or singing as a family is more suited to your needs. But whatever you decide, I hope it is engaging and meaningful and draws you into a reflective space where you ponder how you can live more fully into our principles.

Please note that while this box was put together with families in mind, I want everyone who would like, to have a turn. You can also join with someone else or create your own group. I am just hoping we move from our spiritual practice being on Sunday morning to something we just live daily.

Offering this gift to you all with my love~

General Assembly

I'm so excited that General Assembly will be held in Providence Rhode Island this year. I am in my 8th year as staff here at USH and have been coming here for about 10 years! I am thrilled that GA is so close because I have never attended.

With the location being so close, the ministers and I are hoping a large portion of our congregation will attend. I am planning on taking as many youth as we can afford to fund raise to bring. It is a great way for them to meet other UU peers from around the country. Bradshaw, Kennedy and Sage all have UU friends not only around the country but around the world. I would like to give that gift to the rest of our youth.

Bradshaw has been attending events across the country for nearly five years. This year he will be taking a leadership role at The Well which is a summer program for multi-cultural/multi-racial families. Our family along with Rick Tsukada attended last year for its inauguration.

I am encouraging not only Bradshaw, but all of our youth to engage in UU youth leadership. You don't have to be an adult to lead! Below is a link listing leadership opportunities for youth at GA this summer. Not only is it a great opportunity but all volunteer staff will attend GA for free which includes registration, travel, lodging, and a food stipend. Plus, I am hoping many of us will be there in support. Please see Rayla with any questions an/or help applying.

"I marched so that my children and grandchildren would have equality."

—Anita E. Baldwin

While attending a protest with my kids, we were standing around waiting for the "marching" part to begin. My middle child asked me what we were doing—meaning what were we waiting for in that moment, and when were things going to begin? My youngest (who was just beginning to gain some words) piped up, "We're marshing!" with as much enthusiasm as she could muster.

When my mom marched in the 1960s, she not only marched for herself and others; she also marched for the kids and grandkids she might one day have. She believed that the sit-ins and protests would give her future family an equality that she didn't have. She didn't realize that we, her descendants, would one day march for those same rights.

Mom was saddened when I took my children to protest. She felt like she had let us down, and that her protesting and sit-ins and refusing to sit at the back of the bus were all for nothing. Why did she do all of that for us when we're still protesting for the same rights she protested for all those years ago?

I often wonder about how, or if, things have really changed. I know that things are different—but inequality's head is still reared in many ways. I wonder if my children will take my grandkids to march and protest for the same rights I protest over today. Will things change and look different, but still be there? Will I, like my mother, lament over failed efforts to bring about equity and justice? At what point does true change take effect?

For me, the answer is that people of color—and other marginalized people—can't just want things to be different. It has to be everyone doing this work, no matter how uncomfortable or mundane or monotonous. It has to be everyone wanting things to be different for everyone.

Prayer

Great Spirit of Life: May we live a life that is not in vain. May our works and deeds have meaning. May the path that our ancestors tread, that we follow and leave for others, lead to true equity and justice.

BIG HOLIDAY

 PAGEANT

12/22

*** Time for some FUN! Some DRAMA! A PARADE!

TAKE A PART: If you and/or your family want to be part of the pageant of events and characters for our 12/22 Big Bang Bash, please sign up on December Sundays at the Coffee hour or speak to DRE Rayla Mattson.

WHAT THE PAGEANT IS ABOUT: This year to celebrate the Winter Solstice and return of the sun's light in the coming year, we have borrowed a wonderful script of the Universe Story told in about 30 minutes as a part of worship. It was written by a supporter of Environmentalist Joanna Macy and performed in recent years at the Exeter, NH UU church. This story tells the 13.8 billion year history of our Universe with particular focus on evolution on Earth. While the narrative is read, a pageant of people portraying the events and characters will parade silently down our center aisle. We need dozens of people, all ages and the more the merrier!

Can't parade? You can still participate! Everyone who comes to this special service will play a part in the story even if just from your seat in the pews.

NO rehearsals but we will gather early that Sunday to arrange ourselves.

GHIAA News

Greater Hartford Interfaith Action Alliance

Monday evening, Oct.28, USH participated with over 1,000 people in the Founding celebration of the Greater Hartford Interfaith Action Alliance. USH, with our own large group of enthusiastic supporters, was one of the 35 Founding Congregations and Institutions organizing together for justice in the greater Hartford region. The first slate of issues was presented in areas of education, housing, healthcare, criminal justice reform and gun violence. School superintendents, state legislators, CT State Treasurer Shawn Wooden and Mayor Luke Bronin were among the invited allies, pledging their commitment to work with GHIAA on specific actions for justice. Thank you to all who participated in this powerful evening! This is just the beginning – if you would like to become involved or just learn more about the organization, opportunities are listed below.

Thank you to everyone who has submitted comments. Many people indicated that hosting a sanctuary guest would be consistent with our UU values and principles. People also showed concern with many of the logistical issues and potential long-term commitment. ### Update from the Sabbatical Committee

If you follow our Revs on social media, you have probably seen photos of their adventures so far. They have visited UU communities in the Philippines and have recently arrived in India for more UU community activities and continuing their "Big Trip" as a young family. Here are a few photos below from their exciting travels if you have not seen them on Facebook yet.

And a friendly reminder from the Sabbatical Brochure: Our Revs are relieved of all customary ministerial responsibilities during this time so that their sabbatical can truly be a time of renewal. Thus, Revs Heather and Cathy will not be responding to any congregan emails, phone calls, texts or social media contact. Of course we can enjoy seeing what they are up to and comment on their posts, but the nature of their sabbatical means we shouldn't expect to hear back from them while they are on their sabbatical trip. We will certainly hear more about their travels when they return in early January! To view the Sabbatical Brochure, with all sorts of wonderful details about the Revs' Sabbatical, click HERE.

Warm regards, The Sabbatical Committee (Marye Gail Harrison, Laurie Kelliher, Lisa Galinski and Peter Meny)

The USH Annual Regifting Sale is right around the corner!

It's time to check your basement, attic, closets and garages for great new or barely used items, fabulous art pieces or other treasures stashed away just awaiting a new home through regifting. Why re-gift?

It's an environmentally preferable alternative to buying new products, it provides an economical way to buy your holiday gifts, it's fun, and it is a fundraiser for USH. The Green Sanctuary Committee invites all USH members, family, and friends to participate in this year's sale.

Re-gifting is easy. Bring your items to the USH lobby or Green Sanctuary table at coffee hour this November and then, on Sundays December 1, 8, and 15, shop at USH for holiday "re-gifts."

We request that your Re-gifting Items be:

- * New, high quality items that you, your family, children, or friends received as gifts but which were not used because they just did not quite suit you – but are likely desirable by others;
- * Barely used items that are like new and no longer needed or wanted;

- * Fine craft or art pieces or jewelry in excellent condition;
- * Theatre or concert tickets that you can't use.

Re-gifting sale success is dependent on volunteers so stay tuned for updates and watch for a volunteer sign-up sheet in Fellowship Hall. If you are interested in helping with this year's Regifting sale (it's lots of fun and rewarding and you get to work with some great people) please contact Mary Sherwin or Jeff Howard on the Green Sanctuary Committee.

Thank You and THINK REGIFTING!!!

Ballroom Dancing with Wendy!

Held here at USH. Ballroom dance classes are available to both members and general public. Dance is a fabulous way to exercise and explore a dramatic and exhilarating form of artistic expression. There are so many health benefits to this style of movement as well as a sense of joy and freedom in "the dance" itself. Consider this option to round out your personal fitness routine while having FUN at the same time!! The 'Swing' is a very popular easy, and fun dance which is especially good for beginners.

The class is $15 for one or both classes (per evening). I offer a special price to members at only $10 in November. *Each class is 45 minutes long there's a 15 minute break in between for refreshments or practice. No class on November 28 (Thanksgiving)

Please contact Wendy at wendy1017@sbcglobal.net for scheduling a session.

Mid-winter joyful noise with a Hartford twist on the spirit of New Orleans is sure to raise a smile and make you want to dance.

The Hartford Hot Several Brass Band is bringing their party to USH for a pre-New Year's blast. Since 2012 they have been Hartford's much-needed funky marching band bringing brass, ruckus, and joy to all. Inspired by the international street band movement, the Hartford Hot Several Brass Band spreads the joy of playing in the street both for the fun of it and in support of others working on important social issues, especially in our Hartford community. There are between 10 and 24 of them and they call themselves the Justice League of funk and rumble: they show up, make people smile and dance, then go back to their fancy lair.

Friday, March 27, 2020 Seán Heely Celtic trio Experience the magic music of Scotland and Ireland with the Seán Heely Celtic Trio. The group features U.S National Scottish Fiddle champion Seán Heely, acclaimed multi-instrumentalist Kevin Elam, and Highland bagpiper Tracy Jenkins. They perform original compositions and have rich vocal harmonies in their solid song repertoire that features ballads, sea shanties, and songs in Irish and Scots Gaelic.

Friday, April 17, 2020 Scott Cook has managed to distill the stories collected over eleven years touring across Canada, the USA, Europe, Asia, Australia and elsewhere into straight-talking, keenly observant verse. Our Unitarian Universalist Principles: The member congregations of the Unitarian Universalist Association covenant to affirm and promote: the inherent worth and dignity of every person; justice, equity, and compassion in human relations; acceptance of one another and encouragement to spiritual growth in our congregations; a free and responsible search for truth and meaning; the right of conscience and the use of the democratic process, within our congregations and in society at large; the goal of world community with peace, liberty, and justice for all; respect for the interdependent web of all existence, of which we are a part.
